Series 1: Correspondence, Harry Dickinson (Sept 1941 - Dec 1941)

Series number 1

Series title Correspondence, Harry Dickinson

Date Sept 1941 - Dec 1941

Scope and content

This series contains letters and telegrams, written by James 'Harry' Dickinson, of the 2/10th Field Regiment as they were being deployed to Singapore, aboard HMT JJ (Sibajak). They stopped briefly in Fremantle, passing through the Sunda Strait and arrived in Malaya 5 October 1941. They commenced manouevers at Mersing, through rice fields and rubber plantations, as the Imperial Japanese Army made its way down the peninsula. Harry visited Singapore on several occasions on leave exploring the food and entertainment with his comrades. By November 1941 some items had started to become scarce - razor blades, cigarettes and tobacco, and orders had been given to relinquish all cameras. Harry was attached to the General Base Depot, where he attended an Intelligence School where he was put to work making maps and learning the Malay language. In December all leave had been stopped and they had their 'kits packed' ready to move at a moments notice. [Items 34140/1 to 34140/17]

Series 2: Correspondence, Harry Dickinson (1942)

Series number 2

Series title Correspondence, Harry Dickinson

Date 1942

Scope and content

This series contains letter cards, letters and a telegram, relating to James 'Harry' Dickinson, of the 2/10 Field Regiment. In the first two letters, Harry writes of being close to the 'action' having left headquarters and their camp being bombarded; enemy plains looking for them for days and keeping hidden in the jungle. Harry sent a telegram to his parents 16 February saying all was well, but soon after he was taken a prisoner of the Japanese.

The family was notified in April 1942 that he was missing, and the family and his sweetheart Allison, continued to write to him regardless without any word of his fate. [Items 34140/18 to 34140/34]

Series 3: Correspondence, Harry Dickinson (1943)

Series number 3

Series title Correspondence, Harry Dickinson

Date 1943

Scope and content

This series contains letters and telegrams, relating to James 'Harry' Dickinson of the 2/10th Field Regiment, who had been taken prisoner by the Japanese in February 1942. In May 1943 the family was notified that he was now reported to be alive, a prisoner of war, located in Thailand.

In May 1942, as part of 'A Force', the first work party to be sent from Singapore, Harry travelled to Victoria Point, southern Burma, where they were put to work constructing airfields. Soon after they were sent to Thanbyuzayat to begin work on the Burmese end of the Burma-Thailand Railway. After the completion of the railway Harry was moved to a camp in Thailand.

Also included is a letter from Robert 'Bob' Dickinson, 2/4 AGH Redbank, to his mother. [Items 34140/35 - 34140/66]

Series 4: Correspondence, Harry Dickinson (1944)

Series number 4

Series title Correspondence, Harry Dickinson

Date 1944

Scope and content

This series contains letters and prisoner-of-war letter cards, relating to James 'Harry' Dickinson of the 2/10th Field Regiment, who was a prisoner of the Japanese in Moulmein, Burma and Thai Camp, Thailand in 1944. Harry's mother and sweetheart Alison continued to write, not knowing whether he was receiving their letters. In May, prisoners were allowed to send pro-forma cards via the Japanese Red Cross, through which Harry was able to let them know he was still alive. He was also able to tell them of friends he was sharing camp with: Donald Frame Wilson (QX16090) and Charles Edward Thomas Hagger (QX17652) both men returned to Australia at the end of the war.
