Diary (2 October -10 October 1881)

Unit ID OM81-120/2

Date 2 October -10 October 1881

Scope and content

Loose leaves with diary entries kept by Mary Watson recording events while she drifted over the Barrier Reef in a steel tank and on No. 5 Island of the Howick Group. Mary Watson had left Lizard Island with her infant son Ferrier and Ah Sam, a Chinese worker, after a conflict with local Indigenous people. On leaving Lizard Island, Mary Watson was confused about the date. Her first entry is for 3 September when in fact it was 2 October 1881. The three drifted over the reef for several days eventually landing at No. 5 Island of the Howick Group. Being unable to find water on the island all three died of thirst and were not found until several months later. These loose leaves were found with Mary Watson's body. The last entry reads: "No water. Nearly dead with thirst".
